- Change of Price: Clients have the right to reasonable notice of changes to the prices, services, or policies;
- Theory of Treatment: The state requires a “Plain language” summary of the “theoretical approach used to provide service to clients”. The Practitioner’s Theory of Treatment is: In Esogetics, the theory is that by removing the energetic blockages held within the cellular communication and energetic systems of the body from past traumas/conflict, many issues may be greatly reduced or eliminated. It is common to notice an effect after the first session, though it may take several sessions, and assigned homework, to have a maintaining effect as traumas/conflict can be deeply buried, and the cellular communication must be re-trained. Esogetics’ works on the principle of what is with-in, is with-out (as on the inside as the outside), and envelops mind, body, spirit principles. Common tools used are specifically cut and holographic-inscribed crystals developed by Peter Mandel and produced by Swarovski, as well as specific frequency vibrations of light, Wildcrafted Herb Oil and/or impulses applied to various acupuncture, acupressure and other various therapeutic points;
- Right to Current Information: Clients have the right to complete and current information concerning the practitioner's assessment and recommended service that is to be provided, including the expected duration of the service to be provided;
- Right to Confidentiality: Client records are confidential and will not be released, unless authorized by the client in writing or as otherwise provided for by law;
- Right to Self Access: Clients have the right to access to their own records maintained by the Practitioner’s office, in accordance with state statute sections 144.291 to 144.298;
- Personal Interaction: Clients have the right to expect courteous treatment, free from verbal, physical, or sexual abuse;
- Other Treatment Available: Other alternative services are available to the Client in this same community. These can be located by asking the Practitioner, the provider who referred you to this practitioner;
- Right of Agency: The Client has the right to choose freely among available practitioners and to change practitioners after services have begun, within the limits of health insurance, medical assistance, or other health programs;
- Records Transfer: The Client have the right to coordinated transfer of your records when there will be a change in the provider of services;
- Right of Refusal: The Client may refuse services or treatment, unless otherwise provided by law; and
- Right of Nonretribution: The Client has the right to assert the any and all of above-mentioned rights without retaliation from the Practitioner.
